CAGIVA PLANET 125'S ARRIVE IN AUSTRALIA

THE CAGIVA PLANET 125 ARRIVES IN AUSTRALIA

The Paul Feeney Group, took delivery of their first shipment of Planet 125 machines last month in both red, and mat black livery. The Cagiva Planet 125 are now available from authorised Cagiva and MV Agusta dealers nationwide and have a recommended retail price of $7,690 (GST inclusive), plus on-road costs.

"The Planet (125) has been very popular in Europe as a city commuter bike, and for touring, and we're confident it will have the same impact in Australia," said Feeney.

"It offers exceptional value-for-money, especially when you look at the quality of the running gear, the Italian styling, and competitive pricing."

Technical characteristics of the engine include liquid cooling system, reed induction, and a power valve system – the latter shuts down the exhaust, through an actuator, at medium and low speeds making it more effective without altering performance at higher speeds. The radiator is in a convex position in relation to the direction of travel.

The Marzocchi fork and Sachs shock absorber had revised settings to achieve maximum rider comfort.

"The shock absorbers cope better with rough surfaces thanks to closer control of the brake on the rebound and the use of less pre-loaded springs,"
